

The knowledge is not assumed to sit in the interface. The interface is where recoverable metadata can be observed and attached to an address, while the knowledge itself may live elsewhere.